THIRTY-SIX DEAD IN BEACH TRAGEDY

PROBE STARTED TO FIX THE BLAME

Faulty Construction and Rotten Timbers Responsible for the Terrible Disaster

NUMBER OF HURT
IS PROBABLY 165

Assertions Made That March Step Caused Collapse; Investigations Under Way

LONG BEACH, May 26.—The death
today of Rev. I. V. Killborn of Long Beach brought the total fatalities of Saturday's Auditorium disaster to thirty-six. Several others are near death in the hospitals, and the death
list may reach forty.

Mayor Hatch has issued a proclamation acknowledging his gratitude to officials, doctors and nurses who gave aid. Scores of agencies are assembling relief funds.

The coroner's jury sits tomorrow.
Meanwhile the militia guard the death pit to prevent the removal of evidence. An official probe will be made by a commission of three appointed by the Long Beach authorities. The district attorney and coroner will make an expert inquiry into the cause of the disaster.

LONG BEACH, May 26.—Thirty-five people, nearly all of them women, were killed and about 165 were injured in the terrible catastrophe at Long Beach last Saturday. The pall of death over-shadows the city.
Though two days have passed since the balconies of the Auditorium gave way and precipitated 300 people into a pit of destruction and blood and broken bones, the shock of the awful disaster still holds the city in its grip.

With many of the dead removed to their home towns and many of the injured taken to their homes, the streets following the crash of timbers
and the cries of dying and injured and the moans of the bereaved is hardly lessened. Many severely injured persons are still in the hospitals. Hundreds of anxious relatives and friends besiege the physicians and hospitals. Every effort is being made to give full and accurate information.

Two residents of Orange are numbered among the dead. They are Mrs. A. K. Hill of 563 North Glassell street and Mrs. W. J. Richardson, both of Orange. The first reports gave also a Mrs. A. J. Hill of Orange among the dead. Either there was a confusion of names in which the name of Mrs. A. K. Hill was taken twice, once with the wrong initial, or an unidentified body was mistaken for some known person. One report is that a body thought to be that of another Mrs. Hill than Mrs. A. J. Hill has been recognized as that of Miss Margaret F. Newells, aged 66, of Kenosha, Wis.

The dead numbered thirty-five last night. Of those unidentified who lay in undertaking parlors, all were claimed by friends or relatives. Mrs.
Mollie Gates, aged 60, of Sierra Madre, was one of the two unidentified women at the Mottel parlors. The other was Mrs. Emma Chafar, aged twenty-nine, of 1315 West Jefferson street,
Long Beach.

Late yesterday afternoon Mrs. M.
T. McDonald of Compton passed away at the Seaside Hospital. Mrs. E. C.
Bush, aged 70, of 1617 Cherry avenue, Long Beach, passed away at the same institution at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

PROBE OF DISASTER IS PROMISED TO BE THOROUGH

Coroner Heartwell tomorrow begins a comprehensive probe of Saturday's disaster. The members of the jury are R. M. Davis, J. H. Allen, B.
F. Davis, H. M. Blackburn, H. S. Mc-Neill and C. T. Hargis. Evidence of survivors, eye-witnesses and building experts will be taken during the investigation at the city hall. The jury will go deep into the probe of the alleged faulty construction of the Auditorium in view of the widespread reports as to that being the cause of the disaster. The architectural and structural features of the platform that collapsed will be learned by tape and measure so as to place responsibility where it belongs. The jurymen will be required to view
each of the dead and be sure if possible of identification, and also to make a certified list of the dead, taking these precautions to avoid com-

DIED TODAY

Rev. I. V. Killborn, Long Beach.

TWO ORANGE WOMEN DASHED TO DEATH

Of the thirty-six persons killed in the terrible disaster at Long Beach
last Saturday, two were residents of Orange, Mrs. A. K. Hill, aged 74, and Mrs. W. J. Richardson, aged 38. Of the 165 persons who were injured, a number were from this county. Among them was Miss Rose Richardson of Orange, daughter of Mrs. Richardson, who was killed, and Water Works Superintendent W. J. Richardson of Orange, and among them was A. K. Hill, husband of Mrs. Hill, who was killed.

Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Richardson were members of a party of eleven residents of Orange who went to the Long Beach celebration of British Empire Day. In the party were Mr.
and Mrs. A. K. Hill and their two daughters, Mrs. W. E. Young and Mrs. L. H. Nelson, and Mrs. Nelson's son George; Mr. and Mrs. W. J.
Richardson and their son and daughter,
William and Rose, and Mrs.
Richardson's parents, Mr. and Mrs.
John Holmes.

The two boys, George Nelson and William Richardson, were on the Pike, not near where the accident occurred. The remaining nine of the party were going into the Auditorium.
In advance Mrs. Nelson and Mr. Holmes were walking. A few feet back of them came Mr. and Mrs.
Hill and Mrs. Richardson and Rose,
all four in arm, in the dense crowd. A short distance behind these four came Mr. Richardson, Mrs.
Holmes and Mrs. Young. The four in the center fell into the pit. The edges of the pit all but took in the two in front and the three behind.
When the crash came, Mrs. Nelson and Mr. Holmes on one side looked down into the awful pit. Mr. Richardson, Mrs. Young and Mrs. Holmes were not two feet from the edge opposite.

Those of the party who escaped
falling in, hurried on to the strand.
There they were held back and had to wait for the slow work of rescue.
Those were heart-rending minutes.
Among the first bodies removed was that of Mrs. Richardson. Mr. Richardson met those who were carrying her out. Mrs. Richardson's neck was broken in the fall. It was nearly an hour before Rose was brought out.
The man carrying her turned her over to Mr. Richardson. She was unconscious, and at first it was thought she was dead. She was placed on the sands and after a time she began to revive. Her experiences were frightful. She was conscious for most of the time, until slowly she was smothered into unconsciousness by the heap of humanity upon her. Her injuries are comparatively slight.
One shoulder is bruised and her toes very sore and torn. She was brought home yesterday.

The body of Mrs. Hill was brought out and laid upon the sand. The watchers could not find Mr. Hill, and it was an hour or two after he had been taken from the place to a nearby garage before he was located.

In the first crash, Mr. Hill received injuries that seemed to paralyze him.
He could not use his arms at all, and he lay helpless until he was dragged out and carried away. While he has recovered the use of his arms, he is still suffering from the shock. One of his legs is badly bruised.

The remains of Mrs. Hill and Mrs.
Richardson were brought to G. S.
Smith's Chapel yesterday from Long Beach. Mrs. Richardson's funeral will be held tomorrow at 2 o'clock at the Presbyterian Church at Orange.
Mrs. Hill's remains are being held until word can be received from her

COUNTY'S RESIDENTS AMONG THE INJURED

Among those injured in the catastrophe were Mr. and Mrs. John B.
Miller of Anaheim and Mr. and Mrs.
Alfred Schroesbree of Huntington Beach.

Mrs. Miller is in the Seaside Hospital at Long Beach. At first there were indications that she was suffering from concussion of the brain.
Later reports state that her injuries
consisted of severe contusions.
Schroesbree had his right arm broken. It was set at the Seaside Hospital. His wife, who fell into the awful pit, escaped with severe bruises all over her body, two broken ribs and bad cuts on her face.
Schroesbree's shoulder is injured.
They are at their home at Huntington Beach, and outsiders are not allowed to see them.

Schroesbree is about 70 years old and is a retired contractor.

TRYTHALL TELLS OF THE AWFUL CRASH

Thomas Trythall of 2202 North Main street, was one of those who went down into the pit when the flooring collapsed. He had a very narrow escape. He has some rather severe face lacerations and he was bruised practically all over his body.
His neck and jaw received a severe blow in descending. This injury caused him to speak hoarsely. He is able to sit up, but is sore from head to foot and suffering considerable pain.

Speaking of the affair to a Register representative this morning,
Mr. Trythall said:

"In common with a large number of other people I thought I would go to the Auditorium early, so as to secure a good seat.

"When I arrived there were probably not over fifty people standing near the doors. While I was standing there, the people began to collect in great numbers. The doors were closed and two policemen were stationed to keep back the crowd.
As the people gathered I was pushed nearer and nearer the doors, and I remarked that there would be a jam.
The parade came up the steps and entered the Auditorium. This was the second time I had seen the parade had entered, the mass of people began to crowd in through the doors, and that is all I knew until I came to. I was not standing in the middle of the part that fell, but a little to the side. I could not possibly escape, because of the tight jam of the people.

"As soon as I saw daylight I tried to crawl out, but it was a hard task, owing to the weight upon me. I fell on my side, and could not raise myself on my hands and knees. If I could have done this, I would have gotten out much faster. In my descent something struck me on the jaw, and I thought it was broken.
Finally someone grabbed me by the hand and pulled me out. They wanted to give me assistance at once, but I said: I'm all right; there are plenty more hurt worse than I; go and help them out. I walked to a hydrant, washed myself and proceeded to the bathhouse for treatment.

"Some of the people were killed

BOY DEAD FROM SUPREME COURT GASOLINE BURNS

Can of Blazing Fluid Accidently Thrown From Garage Upon Him Saturday Night

FILL MOTORBIKE
TANK, LAMP OPEN

Bertie Claypool, Aged 15, of Orange Died Tday as Result of Terrible Burns

ORANGE, May 26.—Bertie Claypool, aged 15, was fatally burned
Saturday night when a can of blazing gasoline was accidentally thrown upon him. He died this morning at 8:30 o'clock.

The boy was standing in the door of Parsons Garage on South Glassell street when suddenly he was enveloped in flames. He ran wildly north along the street, screaming. He was caught with difficulty, and part of the burning clothes were torn off of him and the flames remaining upon him were quickly smothered.

The can of gasoline was thrown by Zenita Watson of Olive. Reese
Williams of El Modena rode his motorcycle into the garage, and with Watson was engaged in filling the tank with gasoline. Thoughtlessly, the door of the motorcycle lamp was left open. The fumes from the gasoline caught fire in that flame and in an instant the motorcycle tank had exploded and the can in Watson's hand was blazing. In the glare Watson could not see that there was anyone standing in the door. He attempted to throw the blazing mass into the street. The can struck young Claypool and the contents went over him.

The burns on the boy's body extend from head to foot. His arms seem to have been damaged more deeply than other parts of his body.

Zenita Watson, who threw the gasoline upon young Claypool, feels the shock terribly. His suffering is pitable.

The boy who is dead was the son of D. E. Claypool, who lives on East Maple street. Yesterday for a time it was thought that the boy would survive. His physicians stated that he should live one of his arms would have to be amputated.

WARRANTS FOR PRIZE RING CROWD

Pelky Held Pending Coroner's Probe; McCarty's Neck Said
to Have Been Broken

CALGARY, Alberta, May 26.—Warrants were issued today for Tommy Burns, promoter of the prize fight in which Luther McCarty was killed last Saturday; Billy McCarty, McCarney, McCarthy's manager; Referee Ed W.
Smith of Chicago, and the trainers and attendants of both fighters, on the orders of the attorney general at Edmonton. It is understood the preliminary hearing of Arthur Pelky, McCarty's opponent, has been postponed pending the completion of the coroner's investigation.

Wesley Benson and wife and two children, who were occupying quarters in the Burns arena, which was burned last night, narrowly escaped with their lives. It is generally believed here that the arena fire was incendiary.

New Cause of Death Given CALGARY, Alberta, May 26.—The latest developments of the tragic ending of the world's championship battle held at Tommy Burns' Manchester arena near this city Saturday afternoon discloses the startling news that McCarty's demise was caused from a broken neck, and a bursted
blood vessel at the base of the brain, directly caused from the punch delivered by Pelky, whose left hand
landed flush on the right side of Mc-Carthy's jaw.

Dr. H. H. Mosher, who conducted the autopsy at the request of Coroner Costello, would neither confirm nor deny that McCarty succumbed to other than from heart failure, but it was learned through one of the medical students who attended the autopsy that the heart still almost held its shape.

The city authorities have decided to hold Pelky until after the inquest and to allow him liberty on bail.

HITS HARD AT SETTLERS

They Must Pay Operating and Maintenance Costs of U. S.
Irrigation Projects

U. S. JUSTICES REVERSE
LOWER COURT'S DECISION

Ruling Given In Suit Brought by Rancher of Yakima Valley,
Washington

WASHINGTON, May 26.—The cost of operation and maintenance of the government's irrigation projects until they are fully paid for by the homesteaders and transferred to the settlers associations, must be borne by the homesteaders themselves, according to a decision today by the United States supreme court. The decision reverses the lower court.

Enormous expenses in the reclamation service in maintenance of the great federal irrigation projects hinged upon today's decision. The federal courts of the Northwest decided Uncle Sam must pay the costs and could not levy assessments upon the water users until their contract to purchase the arid land and water rights was completely paid up and the projects themselves turned over to the homesteaders.

D. P. Baker, a settler on land in the Sunnyside reclamation project in the Yakima Valley of Washington, brought the test case. He enjoined the reclamation service from assessing taxes to pay operating costs of supplying water to his land while it is being operated by the government and before he and other settlers acquire absolute title to the property and authority to operate the "big ditch" themselves. The lower federal courts held that the government must pay such maintenance charges out of the general reclamation fund.

PATENT RIGHTS YOKE EASED TODAY

Supreme Court Rules Patantees
Cannot Fix Arbitrary Prices
For Goods

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Freeing
the public to a great extent from exorbitant charges on patented articles,
the supreme court decreed that patentees have no right to fix arbitrary retail prices. In a test case it decided the retailers who cut patentees' prices
nurtured no patent.

Whether patentees may force dealers to retail their products at any fixed
"license" sale price the patentee may decrease was squarely raised in this case.
The District of Columbia Court of Appeals could not decide the case and passed it along to the Supreme Court.
O'Donnell was sued by the Bauer Company for alleged patent infringement
because he cut prices on their product.
O'Donnell had bought his supplies from a wholesaler and not direct from the patentee and contended therefore that he could disregard the license sale restriction and sell the drugs for any price he desired—or even give them away. He declared that, once having sold and delivered their goods to the wholesaler, the patentee could not claim any further dominion over the property. Re-sale prices, he contended, could not be dictated by the patentee.

Manufacturers seeking to establish their "patent monopoly" contended that the patent laws gave them the exclusive right to sell their products
and absolute control of retail prices regardless of how many hands the products pass through.

Court Reversed

The Supreme Court reversed until June 9th, when it will probably adjudicate sine die. It again failed to give decisions in rate cases.

citizens are gathered in the news-

LOBBY WORKS TO DEFEAT TARIFF

President Wilson Charges Big Money Is Used In Game of Misrepresentation

SAYS PEOPLE VOICELESS
WHILE LOBBY KEEPS BUSY

Duty of Press to Let the People
Know—Believes Lobbyists
Will Fail In Efforts

WASHINGTON, May 26.—Smash-

ing tradition again, President Wilson has openly declared that an "industrial, insidious lobby" is using big money to affect the success of the tariff bill. He said:
"I think the public should know that extraordinary exertions are being made to gain recognition for certain tariff alterations. The newspapers are filled with paid advertisements calculated to mislead the judgment of public men. There is every evidence that money without limit is being spent to sustain this lobby. It is thoroughly worth while for the people to have knowledge of this matter. Only public opinion can check or destroy it. The government in all branches should be relieved of this intolerable burden and constant interruption."

"It is of serious interest to the country," the President continued,

"that the people at large have no lobby and should be voiceless, while great bodies of astute men seek to create an artificial opinion, overcoming the interests of the public for private profit."
President Wilson was moved to make this statement because he said he does not believe the nation advised the extremists to which the lobbists has gone. He chided the newspapers at his semi-weekly talk today, saying that he does not believe the press has adequately advised the country of the organized forces at work.

"You cannot throw a brick in Washington today," the President said,
"without hitting a lobbyist." He added that he has no fear that the lobbists' campaign will be successful,
and he does not mean by this statement that the lobbyists are corrupt,
but are only waging a campaign of
misrepresentation.

PROBE OF COFFEE TRUST IS THREATENED BY SENATE
WASHINGTON, May 26.—Unless the Department of Justice reopens
the prosecution of the coffee valor-ization trust, which has doubled the price of coffee, Senator Morris of Nebraska plans to introduce a resolution demanding senatorial action. Morris said:

"The Department of Justice has been bamboozled by the valorization syndicate which is still operating and victimizing the American public.
The combine advanced the price of coffee in the face of the heaviest

OLD SOLDIERS AT SERVICES

Rev. Inwood Reviewed Historical Events in Memorial Sermon Yesterday

Yesterday Rev. E. J. Inwood, pastor of the First Methodist church, preached the memorial sermon in connection with the services held for the old soldiers. Sedgewick Post, G. A. R., and its affiliated organizations attended in a body, and a great patriotic service was held. The church was crowded, and the program was carried out as arranged.

Rev. Inwood's subject was, "Was It Worth the Cost?" He reviewed many historical events, commencing with the landing of the Pilgrim fathers and including some of the events of the Civil War. He pointed out how that war saved the nation from dissolution. He showed that Gladstone's prophecy that America would be the chief steward in the household of nations had come to pass earlier than Gladstone had foreseen. In an optimistic manner the future of the nation was spoken of, the speaker saying that the work is to be carried on by the younger people of today.

WOMAN'S THEATRE IS LONDON PLAN

Court Theater Leased; Suffragists to Try to Educate Public to "Votes For Women"

LONDON, May 26.—The first step in the establishment of a Women's Theater was lately taken when papers were signed for a week's lease of the Court Theater in Sloane Square by the Actresses' Franchise League, of which Mrs. Forbes-Robertson (Gertrude Elliott) is president. It is planned to produce during this trial week in October, Brieux's new play, "La Femme Seule," which is now being translated by Mrs. George Bernard Shaw; Bjornson's, "A Gauntlet," and a number of one-act pieces dealing with various phases of the women's movement.

If the experiment should prove a popular success, arrangements will at once be undertaken to lease one of the downtown playhouses for the presentation of similar dramas throughout the theatrical season, with women managers, women producers, women scene painters, etc., all working on a co-operative basis. The orchestra also will be composed exclusively of women. There will be men stage hands and some men actors, and it is hoped that men will liberally patronize the "front of the house," but these are the only concessions to be made to the other sex.

Miss Inez Bensons, who is organizing the venture, believes that by producing plays of a high standard showing the women's point of view, the actresses' Franchise League will be able to educate a section of the public that could not possibly be lured to a suffragette meeting. Among the

SPOTTED SEAL PUP TAKEN INTO PORT

Newport News: Albert Duarte, Bert Castle and Frank Sutoro caught a spotted seal pup Monday morning, while drifting with Anton Sutoro's launch, Lussin. The seal is of a silvery color covered with dark spots, and belongs to a species seldom seen this far south. The animal was taken to Sutoro's house, where it was put in a pen and has become quite tame. A hair seal pup which was brought into the bay by Capt. Cox in his fine launch, Amanda, furnished a great deal of amusement around Ferguson's pier the latter part of the week, as it made its headquarters in a row-boat belonging to W. V. Pyke and would eat fish from the hand. The seal has been missing this week.

CUPID TO BE GIVEN CHANCE AT ROYALTY

Queen Dowagers Set Stage For Love Affair Between Prince of Wales and Princess Olga

COPENHAGEN, May 26.—Cupid having fallen down on his job badly in England and Russia, probably owing to his activities in routing Mars from Germany for the time being, is to have some royal help, and the affair d'Amour is to be staged here. The Prince of Wales and his second cousin, Grand Duchess Olga, eldest daughter of the Czar, are to be given the opportunity of falling in love with each other, according to an unofficial but nevertheless authentic report which now seems to have the stamp of official court approval.

Villa Herdoere, the charming residence jointly owned by Queen Mother Alexandra of England and Dowager Empress Marie of Russia, is being completely renovated. It will be at Villa Herdoere where the Prince and Grand Duchess will be brought together and given every possible chance to do a little hand holding and other harmless spooning. The two royal families of Russia and England, fearing Cupid may not get on the job soon enough have arranged all preliminary details which they hope will result in a real love match.

It is rare, according to court attendants, that royal families do not do as Emperor William did and simply arrange the match, set the date and usurp every prerogative Cupid ever had. Therefore the plan to bring the Prince of Wales and the Grand Duchess Olga together is a novelty and intensely interesting to all Russians and Britishers.

BETTER STREET LIGHTING TO BE INSTALLED SOON

NEWPORT BEACH, May 26.—Newport Beach will shortly be one of the best lighted towns on the coast, as the board of trustees at its last meeting contracted with the local gas company for thirty-six street lights of 300 candle-power each. The lights will be installed on the lamp posts already erected by the city. The lights were contracted to burn from dusk until midnight, but an agreement was made whereby the gas company would allow the lights to burn until the arrival of the last car at night from Los Angeles.

The railroad committee of the local Chamber of Commerce made a report last week on the entertaining of President Shoup of the Pacific Electric, at which time they submitted to him an estimate of cost of dredging a channel from Nineteenth street,

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 26.—Juan Serranza, a track walker for the Pacific Electric railroad, was drowned yesterday when a fishing boat in which he and friends were approaching the shore overturned.

Serranza with Harry Perris, Sigmond Perris and Ralph Vincent, son of the city marshal, had spent the morning fishing and succeeded in landing a boatload. When 129 yards from shore the cargo shifted and caused the boat to capsize. All members of the party except Serranza swam ashore. A power launch patrolled the coast seeking the body of the victim.

IOWA FARMERS TO GET FARM COURSE THROUGH "MOVIES"

AMES, Iowa, May 26.—Plans have been perfected for the establishment next fall of a course of instruction by moving pictures for Iowa farmers. It will be the first time that movies have been put to this use. Throughout the summer pictures are to be taken of the spraying of orchards, laboratory work, stock judging, work with the plow and in the carpenter shops of various institutions, and the rearing of houses and out-houses. All these pictures will be shown throughout the state. Federal officials will watch the system and its results closely to learn if it would be advisable to institute similar courses throughout the rural districts of the nation.

IMPRESSIVE SERMON CLOSED THE MEETINGS

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher delivered the closing sermon of the series in the evangelistic campaign last night at the Big Tent. Every available bench and chair under the big canvas was filled, and all around the edge of the tent was a wall of people, eager to hear the gospel of Christ as Dr. Brougher preached it.

Dr. Brougher was worn and tired. His voice was weak, yet he preached with earnestness and power, and led many to accept Christ as their personal Savior.

His subject was "In Love," and the great heart of the speaker seemed to draw his audience right to the door of the Kingdom as he emphasized the loving side of God's nature. Dr. Brougher took for his text the words of Jesus to Peter, found in John 21:15: "Lovest thou me more than these?" also the familiar verse, John 3:16, "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Among other things he said: "The greatest sentence in the world contains only three words; and yet it is a sentence that, when accepted, transforms lives. Those three words, 'God is Love,' are the greatest ever uttered."

"Love is the mightiest force in the universe. Jesus Christ founded His Kingdom on love, knowing that it would endure when all other things would fail. God knows our weakness, and yet He loves us. He knows our sins and still He loves us. 'If we really love God we will show it by acknowledging and accepting His Son. This is the natural thing to do. Real love will express itself. A young woman may think she can keep a young man from finding out that she is in love with him, but she can't. Love will manifest itself by open loyalty. It will manifest itself by doing the will of the one who is loved.'"

"The story is told of an old colored man down south, about seventy-five years ago, when Halle's comet was seen in the heavens as it was two or three years ago. The servant was taking his master to Nashville. As they drove on in the night the negro looked up and saw the stars falling. He watched them for some time and finally stopped the horse, and got down from his seat, opened the door of the carriage and said: 'Massa, massa, come out, de wuld am cumin' to an end.' The master said: 'What do you mean, Sam?' Sam said: 'De stahs am fallin', de wuld am cumin' to an end.' The master said: 'Do you see that star yonder, that bright star that is constantly twinkling? Keep your eye on that star and drive on to Nashville. When that star falls, Sam, call me, for the world will be at an end.' Oh, friends, put your faith in God and pin it there. Look to Him, keep your eyes on Him, for He cannot fail. The fact of God's love will remain throughout the universe."

Margaret Bottom walked along the street in New York and as she looked up at a window she saw the face of an old schoolmate at the window.

She crossed the street and rang the bell and was told by the maid that the lady was not at home. Margaret Bottom knew she could not be mistaken in that face, so she said: 'I know she is here for I saw her at the window and I must see her.' The friend poured out her heart to Margaret Bottom. She told her of her heartache and sorrow, of her husband's death, and of the weak-minded boy she was left to care for. The friend took Margaret Bottom into another room, and there sat the boy, as simple as a baby. The mother said: 'For twelve years I have given myself to him and his care.' Margaret Bottom said: 'My dear, I am sorry for you.' The friend answered: 'Oh, but you don't know how I love him, but the hardest part of it all is that during the twelve years I have taken care of him, I have never heard him say the words, 'Mother I love you.' If I could hear that once from his lips I would feel repaid.'"

"Oh, people, the great heart of God that has cared for you, aches to hear you say, 'I love you.' God's heart is filled to overflowing with love for you, but He longs to have you return it."

Women's Meeting

At the First Methodist church the women's meeting was largely attended, and was a wonderful meeting in both pleasure and profit.

The half-hour pipe organ recital by Mrs. Potts was a rare treat, the music tuning each heart to perfect harmony with the great meeting. Following the recital Mrs. Norvell talked of the life of Moses. She beautifully told this popular Bible story and then enlarged upon the mother, the princess, the sister and the slave girls. These women were the organizers of the first women's club, parent-teacher's association, and the first federated movement of women in history. Mrs. Norvell worked out from these women the influence upon childhood of these characters. The speaker said women of today could well need to go back to these lives and learn of the influence of woman-kind upon humanity. She spoke first of motherhood—the first and strongest character in the lives of boys and girls; then of the simplicity and innocence of a young sister, then the powers of the princess in her queenly robes, stately bearing and cultivated manner, and then the humble slave girl, whose opportunity it was to do what the queen could not do.

The father is not known in the life of Moses, but it is what these women wrought that were influences next to the divine that moulded this great life.

Her lesson to the women present was that they might be a mother, a sister, a princess or a humble slave girl in service to lift some life to a great career.

Mrs. Norvell's deepest lesson in the address of the afternoon was the message of the glorious possibilities of the women of the land today to lift and save those who are under the edict of death.

Tonight Dr. Brougher will give a lecture at the Big Tent; admission, twenty-five cents.

BUYING PRICE HAS BEEN CUT

Standard Will Pay Five Cents Per Barrel Less in
Two Fields

Los Angeles Times: The Standard Oil Company has reduced its buying price for oil in Whittier and Orange county fields 5 cents a barrel. The new schedule as given out is as follows: Eighteen to 21.9 gravity oil, 60 cents; 22 to 24.9 gravity, 65 cents; 25 to 27.9 gravity, 75 cents, and 28 gravity and over, 85 cents.

Although no reason is given for the cut it is ascribed to the competition afforded in the market in this section of the state by oil brought through the general pipeline, as well as to the increase in production hereabouts.

Some of the concerns selling all or a part of their yield to the standard are the Petroleum Company, Dorsey, Walker-Brand, Birch, Brea Canyon, Fullerton and Murphy. Except for the oil contracted to the Amalgamated and the Union, and the outputs of these companies, practically all the production is purchased by the Standard. Some oil is, of course, disposed of directly to the consumer or to local middlemen.

SCHOOL CHILDREN TO GIVE AN EXHIBIT

ANAHEIM, May 26.—Prof. J. L. Van Derveer and the teachers and students of the Fremont school are planning for a grand exhibit of all lines of work undertaken during the past year. The exhibit will occur at the close of the school, June 13. At this time the domestic science, manual training and all other branches of work, including the home gardening and agricultural classes, will be exhibited.

One of the really deals of considerable note was a purchase made by Mrs. C. H. Newcombe of this city, the property in question being the well-known Bonita ranch at Corona, consisting of 120 acres in an excellent stand of alfalfa, with an exceptional fine irrigation system, producing 500 inches of water from four twelve-inch wells, with a sixty-horse-power electric motor. The consideration named for this ranch is $72,000.

SO DIFFERENT!

"The striking characteristic of our recent legislature was that it did its own thinking," said Francis J. Heney in a recent speech. "It was not like in the old days when two or three agents of the railroad company paced the lobby and maintained command over all legislation. These corporation lobbyists were the supreme authority and it was generally known that their consent must be obtained before a bill could be enacted, and also that if they once said the word the bill would surely be put through."

"A new order of things has been established since the Progressives have dominated the legislature. You've got to convince a member of the merits of a bill if you want his vote. There is no one person, who, if convinced or otherwise won to your side, can give any assurance that a measure will be passed."

"You've got to show our legislators nowadays. They are independent, thinking, hardworking men. The high character of the legislation we have is the reflection of the high character of the legislators the people are now electing."

"When I was in Sacramento during the recent session an old-timer came to me with deep concern spread over his face:

"Heney," he said, 'this is different from the old days. The trouble is that you can't find out who in hell is going to get a bill through that legislature."

FINANCIAL LEGISLATION IS CERTAIN

President Wilson and Leader Underwood of the house, and Hon. Carter Glass of Virginia, chairman of the committee on banking and currency, have definitely decided that a new currency bill should be passed at this session. At the present time national banks cannot obtain bank notes circulation without depositing their full value in government bonds with the treasury department.

The most important feature of the new bill will be to allow national banks to deposit either state, county or municipal bonds, or other high class securities, with the treasury department, which will then furnish bank notes up to about seventy per cent of the value of those securities. This provision will enable the national banks to increase enormously their volume of circulation, thereby making money easy and plentiful, especially at such times, like last fall, when it required one billion dollars with which to move our tremendous crops, and which created a financial stringency in many other departments of commerce. By this important provision of elasticity it is expected that the currency bill will automatically expand in response to the requirements of business and commerce.

Our present financial laws are exceedingly antiquated and have been out of date for more than a generation. At the present time national banks are even forbidden to make loans on real estate security, which is the safest of all securities. It is needless to say that that foolish restriction and limitation of the usefulness of national banks will be removed forever, under the new bill, which will be quite free from partisanship, as the business men of the country have put their foot down on this old idea of making business measures a football of politics.

THE TARIFF FIGHT

The Republican members of the senate finance committee are making a determined fight to secure hearings before this committee which is now considering the new tariff bill. The tariff bill as now constituted is largely the work of Oscar W. Underwood with the two suggestions of President Wilson concerning wool and sugar, the latter of which is to have one cent a pound duty for three years, and thereafter to be free listed, and the former is to be placed on the free list at once.

The Democrats are arguing that when the tariff bill was before the committee on ways and means of the house, a full invitation was extended to everyone who had any interest in the tariff to come forward and be heard, and that there is now no use in reopening those hearings, especially when the country wants the matter disposed of as quickly as possible, so that business may be governed accordingly and adjust itself thereto. On the other hand the Republicans are arguing that such an important matter as a tariff bill should not be rushed through the senate with undue haste.

THE TRUE SCIENTIFIC TAX IS THE SINGLE INCOME-TAX

(BY L. H. KOEPEL)

In all the affairs of men justice and equity must never be lost sight of. Owing to the complexity of our civilization, all will admit that the burdens of taxation are not equally borne by the people in any community, county, state or nation. I believe that the fallacy all lies in land and personal property taxes—the single land tax being, perhaps, the most extreme rim of injustice. There is but ONE TRULY JUST AND EQUITABLE SYSTEM, "THE SINGLE INCOME TAX." The burden is placed where it belongs, on every citizen. There is but one exception to this "single tax" to be made. Vacant lands in cities or in the country, while they remain unused, should be taxed at a rate equal to the product of adjoining lands.

Without attempting to enter into detail to show how injustice is done which would be removed by the single income tax plan, I shall give some comparisons as concrete proof.

Take the city superintendent of public instruction, with a salary of $3000 per year. He pays taxes on his residence and household property of $100. Nothing more. He makes no investment save his education. A grocer in addition to his education, invests $15,000 in buildings and stock. At five per cent, even at half valuation, he pays $375 taxes. His residence and household property make him pay $100. It will be seen that this grocer pays $575 more taxes than the superintendent. Yet the grocer's net income was but $2500. He took all the risks of uncertainty, failures of crops, and bad accounts. On $2500 he pays $375. The superintendent on a certain salary of $3000 pays nothing.

A blacksmith invests $3000 in his shop and tools. On the same basis as mentioned above, he pays taxes of $75 on his investment. His property adds enough to bring his total tax up to $125. The man who preaches to him every Sunday is given a house to live in and a salary of $2500, on none of which he pays a penny of taxes, when he ought to pay $125. The blacksmith's net income is but $800.

Take the broker. He pays taxes on his residence and other property of $88. He makes no investment. During the year he sells lands, stocks and bonds on which he realizes commissions of $28,000, and so invests it—save what he spends for living, which is large—as to avoid paying taxes. He should have paid $788. He actually paid only $88. The rancher who pays $88 invests $3320, with all of his time, and gets an income of $600. A judge of a court, who receives a certain salary of $5000, uses it up. He has a sure thing for some years. He pays a tax of $140 for the property he possesses. He escapes paying $125 which he ought to give for governmental purposes.

The dry goods merchant invests $35,000 to conduct his business and pays a tax of $875, plus the $140 on his residence. And his net income is but $5000, on which he pays $875 more than the judge pays on his $5000 income.

Pages might be covered in like comparisons. All would show a like injustice. The principle underlying the single income-tax is in operation in the form of a corporation tax. Our national government is now devising means to collect an income tax, thus showing the possibility of this tax from the national view-point. Of necessity there must be a rearrangement of offices. The assessor and tax-collector would be officers of the past regime. A definite system of keeping books for every phase of income must be followed by each earner of income. The tax should be paid either quarterly or semi-annually; the former is preferable. Districts small enough must be organized so that both the residence of everyone and to whom his taxes are paid shall be known by a sub-treasurer. All sub-treasurers must make daily settlement by mail with the county treasurer. All monies received for either state, county, city or other purposes, should pass through the hands of the county treasurer. Non-residents must pay taxes in the county where the income originates.

That the method can be made a success universally is evident from the fact that such intricate corporations as railroads are now effectively reached. As incentive for fidelity on the part of the tax payers, provisions can be made that no one shall have the right to vote or be a candidate for or hold office who has failed to pay his taxes according to law. Penalties must be imposed upon those who conceal or attempt to conceal any item of income, such as twice the amount of tax for the first offense, three for the second, four times and ten days in jail for the third, etc.

LEGISLATION FOR UPBUILDING OF THE STATE'S INDUSTRIES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—With an intelligence seldom displayed in the heat of legislative battles the Fortieth California legislature contributed more to the upbuilding of the industries of the state than any law-making body in the history of the commonwealth.

The agricultural and horticultural industries of California for many years struggled along with little or no assistance from the state, and without means of co-operation among themselves. They were at the mercy of destructive pests on the one hand and the extortionate rates of the railroad companies upon the other.

With an appropriation of $700,000 for the support of the agricultural college of the University of California, and liberal special appropriations for the same department, Governor Johnson has placed this department in the forefront of the agricultural colleges of the nation and given it the means to lend aid that means millions of dollars to the farmers of California in the protection of their crops.

Appropriations aggregating $450,000 make certain the carrying out of the work of harnessing the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers and the prevention in the future of the disastrous floods which have annually leveled a toll of millions of dollars upon the farmers of the two valleys.

With the carrying out of the great project of the highway system in the agricultural districts and the regulation of the transportation charges of the railroad companies on farm products by the state railroad commission the California agriculturalist will have received the assistance from the government of the commonwealth which was denied so long.

While the interests of the farmer have been fully attended to the greatest step in the history of the state was taken in the amelioration of the condition of workmen and women. The enactment of the workmen's compensation act is assurance for the future against the multiplication of the number of widows and orphans left destitute, to be charged upon the public, through the death of permanent injury of the family breadwinner.

Hostile newspapers have endeavored to show that this would put a heavy burden upon employers. Nothing could be more untrue, for the simple reason that the cost of insuring employees will be charged as a cost of operating business and will be charged to the public. Without placing an unjust burden upon the employer the law relieves the mechanic and other employee of the haunting fear that should he be injured his family would starve.

The bringing of the University of California into closer relationship with the man who tills has been another accomplishment of the fortieth session of the legislature through the means of an appropriation of $50,000 for university extension.

Sanitary regulations and restrictions in factories and other employments were provided to still further protect the lives and health of the workers.

The extension of the powers of the state railroad commission and the creation of a bureau to prevent the exploitation of the public by corporations organized for the express purpose of swindling the gullible were accomplishments which will inure to the benefit of the commercial interests and reputable business men of the state in the form of millions of dollars saved.

Every falsehood and distortion that could be printed was circulated a short time ago to prevent giving to the state railroad commission the power to stand between the shipper and the great transportation companies which up to that time had levied toll on every individual in California to the extent of extortion. The splendid accomplishments of that commission in two years have demonstrated to the satisfaction of the people of California that for many years they had been duped into fighting the battles of the corrupt Southern Pacific political machine, greatly to their financial detriment.

The great mining industry of the state will be immensely benefited by the modernizing of the state mining bureau and the giving to that department of the financial means to aid the industry by the introduction of new scientific methods and to carry on the work of honest exploitation of the state's mineral resources.

Legislation in the interests of the children, the increasing of the amount available for school purposes and the conservation of the natural resources of the state, all engaged the attention of the members of the law-making body. The means to systematize and modernize still further the business of the state government and of its institutions were also afforded.

To carry out all of these things less than a normal increase in the cost of government will be required. This additional amount will fall upon the corporations alone. To meet the additional cost the rates of taxation upon the railroad companies were increased. Hence the cry of "freak" legislation. The phenomenon of seeing the Southern Pacific railroad company paying the amount of taxes that it ought to pay is most certainly a "freak" of nature.

LOS ANGELES, May 26.—The fifty lads from the Columbia Park Boys' Club of California, who have been here for more than a week, were the guests yesterday of Sir Thomas Lipton, who took them to Southampton and thence aboard the yacht Erin for a trip to the Isle of Wight and Portsmouth.

They visited the Victory, Nelson's old flagship, which saluted as the boys' band played "God Save the King" and "The Star-Spangled Banner." The behavior of the lads impressed everybody they met during the trip.

BALKANS PEACE OUTLOOK IS BAD

PARIS, May 26.—The foreign office today announced that the Balkan peace conference, scheduled for tomorrow, will be postponed until the prospects for peace appear brighter.

BULGARIANS FIRE AT WARSHIPS OF GREEKS

ATHENS, May 26.—Admiral Couratellis, in command of the Hellenic fleet, telegraphed yesterday that the cruiser Averoff and some destroyers were fired upon by Bulgarian batteries at Kavala, when passing three miles from shore. As soon as the Greek flag was sighted, the Bulgarians opened fire with siege guns and three batteries of small artillery. None of the shots took effect and the Greeks did not reply.

The incident has created a very bad impression here and it is believed that Bulgaria is trying to force the Greeks into war without a formal declaration.

Premier Venizelos refuses to regard the discussion in this light, but has made a protest to Sofia.

Bulgar Losses in War

LONDON, May 25.—Official figures of the Bulgarian losses in the war, published at Sofia, give the following estimate:

Killed, 330 officers, 29,711 men; wounded, 950 officers, 52,550 men; missing, 319. A conference of the Austrian and Hungarian ministers was held Saturday to arrange for further demobilization, now that Balkan peace is assured.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB CONCERT

High School Entertainment of Music, Acrobatic Stunts and Folk Dances

As a substitute for the annual high school entertainment which the Board of Education decreed should not be put on this year, the Girls' Glee Club last Saturday evening appeared in a program of vocal and instrumental music and folk dances. Every number was well given and was much enjoyed by the very good audience which nearly filled the auditorium. Everything considered, the affair was well attended.

All money cleared goes toward furnishing the music room of the new polytechnic. The auditorium was nicely decorated with streamers of the school's colors, red and white, and a great variety of pennants.

The musical numbers were under the direction of Miss Ely, teacher of music, and the folk dances were in charge of Miss Petro, teacher of physical culture. The young ladies taking part in the dances were prettily and appropriately costumed. One feature of the program was the quartet of boys who called themselves "Tun-Bugs." They were Harold Scott, Lowell Foutz, Frank Hall and George Oertley. One "stunt" of Hall's drew well-merited applause. The youngster squeezed through an ordinary tennis racket.

A BOON FOR PICNICS OR SEASIDE OUTINGS

A bit of practical advice is given in the hint below from the June Woman's Home Companion that will come in play for those going to the seaside or to the mountains this summer: "Picnic cooking, if in inexperienced hands, will undoubtedly be better over a stove than an open fire. But you cannot carry a stove on a picnic or camping expedition; nor need you. A piece of thin sheet iron, thirty inches long by eighteen inches wide, is all the stove you want. This laid across two little banks of earth, with the fire beneath, or two logs, with the fire between, forms an excellent stove, and not only makes it unnecessary to wait for embers for good cooking—since the flames cannot reach the food through the sheet iron—but is in itself an excellent griddle for making toast and flap-jacks."

To Attend Mothers' Congress

Mrs. G. P. Hill, president of the Orange County Federation of Parent-Teacher's Associations, and Mrs. F. H. The congress will be in session for two days, May 28-29.

A DAY IN THE HILLS

U.P. Sunday School Had Happy Outing In Fair Orange County Park

(By One of Them.)

The United Presbyterian Sabbath school of Santa Ana held their annual outing on Saturday May 24, at Orange County Park. The day was ideal. The hay wagons with their precious freight of little people, the buggies and autos, all arrived safely at the picturesque spot, and when all the merry-makers were gathered around the picnic tables it was indeed a large and goodly crowd. But the home cooks had prepared so bountifully for the occasion that even after everyone had been fully satisfied, "heaps" of good things yet remained upon the festive board.

During the afternoon an enthusiastic game of ball was enjoyed, it being a little contest between the boys of this school and those of the Tustin Presbyterian, and resulted in a score of 27 to 35 in favor of the Santa Ana team.

Miss Brotherton, the congregation's missionary to India, happily had arrived in time for the picnic, so all had the pleasure of meeting this dear young woman and bidding her welcome not only to the home land, but also to the delights of Orange county and Orange County Park. The park is now in the height of its beauty, with the giant sycamores waving their leafy banners, the grape vines filled with tender fruit and throwing a delicate drapery over many a tree and shrub; the oaks are just as grand as ever, while along the shady paths grow wild flowers. It was a beautiful spot in which to spend the day for old as well as young, for the "homeites" as well as the stranger who had traveled seven weeks across the waters from the hot plains of India. All were glad for the pleasant day, for the beautiful place in which to spend it, and above all for the happy people who enjoyed it all.

Honors for Mrs. Lacy

Sycamore Lodge had a splendid attendance out Saturday night when Mrs. Fannie Lacy, lately elected vice president of the Grand Rebekah Assembly of the state, was the guest of honor. Mrs. Lacy was fairly showered with bouquets of sweet peas and roses. May baskets of pansies were also presented to her. Santa Ana Rebekahs are highly pleased with the selection of Mrs. Lacy for the next to the highest office in the state organization. She is now but a step from the presidency. Mrs. Lacy responded with a pleasant speech to the courtesies of Saturday evening.

Reports from both delegates and visitors to the Assembly meeting in Los Angeles recently were given in an interesting way. These were enjoyed, not only by the members but by the visitors present. New Mexico and Missouri both being represented among the visitors.

Following the business session all adjourned to the banquet room where ice cream was served. Dancing continued the evening.

not by the fall, but by the flooring and beams which fell on top of them afterwards. One man and wife I saw were in a dreadful plight. The husband had his face battered almost beyond recognition while his wife was paralyzed from the waist down.

"It was a terrible sight to see the dead taken away. A good many of them were not even so much as scratched. They were suffocated. There were probably about two dozen persons got in the Auditorium before the crash came, these following in right at the heels of the men in the parade. Some of the policemen must have gone down, too, for they were standing on the very spot. The moans and shrieks of the maimed and dying was something awful, and I can tell you I would not want to be in another such catastrophe, no not for the whole state of California. Everybody remarked what a good-natured, enthusiastic, pleasure-loving crowd it was. No rowdiness, or anything to mar the pleasure of the day—until the awful disaster. I was accompanied by my son-in-law, J. J. Woodward of San Diego, but fortunately he was about a block away from me, he having walked along the pier for some distance. I would estimate that fully 300 people went down with me."

MRS. HASKINS AMONG THOSE BADLY HURT

Mrs. P. M. Haskins, aged 75, who lived at 713 Bush street, Santa Ana, for a year, is among those who were badly injured in the disaster. She is at the Seaside Hospital, Long Beach, suffering from a crushed collarbone, a broken bone in one ankle and severe nervous shock. Her advanced age leaves the outcome in doubt. She is a frail, delicate woman. Mrs. Haskins left Santa Ana for Pasadena about two months ago. She has many friends here, especially in the Methodist church, and relatives named Hurl live in the northern part of the city. Yesterday Mrs. Ella Parker of 715 Bush street, who lived next door to where Mrs. Haskins roomed, went to Long Beach to see her. Owing to Mrs. Haskins' condition, Mrs. Parker was unable to see the injured woman. However, she talked to the nurse, who stated that Mrs. Haskins' injuries were not as bad as at first reported, but stated that she was not resting well, is in a highly nervous state and suffering from broken bones as stated above. Mrs. Haskins came here from New York.

ACT OF KINDNESS SAVED N. S. LONG, TUSTIN RESIDENT

Just a mere act of kindness, one of those little things that are characteristic of the everyday life of N. S. Long, saved him from being one of those thrown into the Long Beach death pit.

Mr. Long is a kindly man. Over at Tustin, where he lives, everybody knows him as Brother Long, and it is as brothers and sisters that he looks upon the people of the whole world.

Saturday he was hurrying into the auditorium, hoping to get a seat. He saw a woman with a little crippled child almost helpless in the crowd. Long stopped, and in his cheery manner helped the little cripple to a place of comfort. He had no more than completed the slight service before he heard the crash and the shrieks of the injured people. Had Long not paused to assist the child, he would inevitably have been carried down into the pit.

Manfully, Long gave aid in the rescue work. He helped carry away the dead and injured. When he left twenty-eight dead had been extricated and taken away.

DESCRIBE HORROR AS HEARTRENDING

In interviews with a register reporter, some of the Santa Ana citizens who were fortunately not in the catastrophe, but who were near the scene when the fatal crash came, described the calamity as the most horrible they had seen. They said the people were massed together near the entrance to the auditorium and a good number had already entered when suddenly, without warning, the floor cracked, split and gave way, precipitating several hundred unfortunate victims through the second floor of the pier down onto the sands below near the water's edge.

"I was just getting off a car near the scene, when I heard the crash," said Donald Goddard, a young English lad who went to participate in the jollifications of the day. "I could not see very much as the large crowd that quickly gathered obstructed my view, and the police immediately began to stretch lines around the scene which held the crowd at some distance. But I saw them carry away at least ten bodies while I stood there a few minutes."

"It was indeed terrible and a sight I don't wish to see again."

Was Close to It

C. P. Kryhl of Santa Ana had a narrow escape from being a victim of the appalling disaster. He was on the stairs leading from the pike to the promenade, part of which gave way, and seeing the crowd outside the doors of the auditorium, concluded that the building was filled and they were the overflow. So he was just coming away when he heard the flooring and beams suddenly crack and open up, forming a pit into which the people were precipitated, a struggling, maimed and dying mass of humanity.

Going That Way

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Bailey of Parson street and two friends made the journey to Long Beach together and they all had a very narrow escape. In the course of her narration of the affair Mrs. Bailey said yesterday afternoon: "We all got off the car at American avenue and we watched the parade march to the entrance of the Auditorium. The participants in the parade all went inside the building, including the little girls who were dressed to represent different dominions of the British Empire. Just outside the doors waiting to enter was a crowd composed of mostly women and children who had got there early to avoid the rush later. The band was playing a lively tune and everybody seemed to be full of enthusiasm and were enjoying themselves to the utmost. It was a good natured crowd. The friends who were with us wanted to go inside to hear the speech making and other numbers which were to make up the program, but I said I did not care to go. After some little persuasion we all decided to attend the ceremonies. We had just gotten to the foot of the steps leading to the promenade (Mr. Bailey was on the first step) when we heard a great noise like the rattling of sheet iron. One man came running down the stairs shouting: 'The whole building has collapsed, quick!' At this cry everybody began to turn and run, and we followed. After we reached the sidewalk we could see what had happened. It was a horrible sight. A day that had been one of pleasure and happiness was without a moment's notice plunged into one of grief and sorrow. Everything was turned into a funeral. Within an hour after the terrible catastrophe all business houses were closed and the flags were flown at half-mast."

"It was indeed a miracle we were not in it. A few seconds more and we would have been just on the fatal spot."

A citizens' relief committee has opened headquarters here. Already it has guaranteed $2500 to assist the city in meeting the emergency caused by the Auditorium disaster of last Saturday. All physicians here have agreed to accept no fees for work being done. The committee issued a public statement that there will be no red tape in caring for the victims and that all will be given the best of burials or best of medical attention, as the case may demand.

The citizens' committee's statement follows: "The citizens of Long Beach will courageously and promptly meet every responsibility and humane demand growing out of Saturday's awful tragedy. The dead will be given proper burial, and the wounds of the injured will be cared for by the best obtainable medical and nursing skill. The needs of every surviving victim will be promptly and heartily supplied. ROOSEVELT DEFENDS HIMSELF FROM CHARGE OF INSOBRIETY

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 26.—Former President Roosevelt arrived today to be present at the $10,000 libel suit against Geo. A. Newett of Ishpeming, the newspaper proprietor who charged in print that the former president was not infrequently drunk. Immediately on his arrival Col. Roosevelt consulted his attorneys. The Colonel refused to discuss the case for publication. It was expected the case will be called at 2 o'clock.

Col. Roosevelt will have still further cause to remember affectionately his bow-legged, leather-chapped, range-riding companions of the west, apparently, for they want to speak for the good name of the now famous man who once herded cattle with them.

Cowboys and ranchers who knew Colonel Roosevelt in the past are sending telegrams addressed to the ex-president at Marquette, offering to come here and testify for him. The messages come from all classes, scattered from Montana to Mexico, and even a Mexican who rode trails with ex-President Roosevelt has offered his aid.

Story of the Slander

MARQUETTE, Mich., May 26.—The suit of a former president of the United States to recover $10,000 damages for alleged libel by a newspaper editor began here before Judge Richard C. Flannigan of the Marquette county circuit court today when the case of Theodore Roosevelt versus George A. Newett of Ishpeming, Mich., went to trial.

Newett, during the last presidential campaign, printed a scathing editorial arraignment of Roosevelt and his organization of the Progressive party, in the Iron Ore, a Republican weekly newspaper published at Ishpeming. Besides flatly branding Roosevelt as a falsifier, Editor Newett wrote: "Roosevelt lies and curses in a most disgusting way; he gets drunk, too, and that not infrequently, and all his intimates know about it."

It was on this paragraph in the editorial that Colonel Roosevelt based the libel suit which went to trial today. The editorial in question was printed in the issue of October 12, 1912. In addition to today's civil action, criminal action based on the same editorial, is pending against Newett in the justice court here.

Two days after the publication of the editorial, while Roosevelt was in Chicago preparing to go to Milwaukee, ke, a copy of the Iron Ore was put in Roosevelt's hands. He immediately gave instructions to his lawyers to begin a civil suit for libel. Henry M. Wallace, the Detroit Progressive, was placed in charge of the action of the ex-president against the Michigan editor. James H. Pound represented Colonel Roosevelt in court today.

The evening of the day on which Roosevelt was shown the editorial he went to Milwaukee where he was shot by the lunatic, John Schrank. The former president's subsequent illness delayed the immediate filing of the suit which was not instituted until October 25.

The entire editorial is quoted in the formal complaint made to the court, but the petition declared Roosevelt would waive all claim to damages for any of the alleged libel contained in the publication except in that paragraph which charged the former president with intemperance.

Editor Newett and his lawyer, William P. Belding, of Ishpeming, again today declared their intention of fighting the suit to the last. In Newett's answer to the suit he pleaded justification. He declared his charges were "made in good faith and without malice and under circumstances creating the qualified privilege, to wit, that at the time alleged, when the plaintiff was candidate for the office of president of the United States, his public conduct and his fitness for such office were properly subject to discussion as matters of common interest, and that at the time alleged in the declaration, it was widely and currently reported that the plaintiff was then and had been for a long time a man of intemperate habits." Newett declared he had learned "from sources he deemed reliable" that the statements made in the editorial were true.

Newett, through his attorney, today declared that he will produce evidence and witnesses to prove that his statements are true. The defense, however, refused absolutely to tell in advance who any of the witnesses will be.

For Roosevelt, it was expected that many prominent men, men known nationally, will testify in person for the former president and that Roosevelt's attorney was prepared today to present depositions from many others who were unable to come here. Attorney Pound for Roosevelt repeated the statement issued by the Progressive National committee in which it was declared that the charges made by Newett "constituted the culmination of an insidious campaign of slander" against Colonel Roosevelt. Pound today called special attention to the fact that the suit "was not instituted to recover money damages and the amount asked was therefore fixed at a nominal sum."

The suit had once been postponed. When it was called at the February term of the court, Newett's lawyers succeeded in having it continued until the May term to permit the taking of depositions in various parts of the country. They also requested that the depositions be suppressed. The court granted the two motions and it was not until they were publicly read in court that the names of the deponents were made known.

METHOD OF INSURING THE NATIONAL FORESTS

The money spent on the national forests is an insurance against the damage or destruction by fire of some two billion dollars worth of public property, and against monopoly and extortion when the private lands which now supply the bulk of our yearly consumption of timber are nearly exhausted. The timber of the national forests is increasing in value at the rate of at least fifty million dollars a year. It would be poor economy not to be willing to spend two or three millions annually to insure that immense return.

Ultimately the national forests will be self-supporting. But in the mean time there is little more ground for saying that they cost more than they bring in than there would be in complaining that the premiums paid for fire insurance, or the cost of a city fire department, failed to bring in an annual cash return. And it may not be generally known that, apart from the fact that more than 600,000 persons every year engage in the use or development of national forests, the western states now receive for their schools and roads, in lieu of taxes, 25 per cent of the gross revenue from the national forests. Up to January 30, 1912, they have thus received $2,695,400, and congress has set aside an additional 10 per cent for building roads. In some places the proceeds from this 35 per cent of the gross revenue already exceeds what would be produced by taxation under private ownership.

"GRIZZLY" SCREENS ARE INSTALLED AT SUGAR BEET DUMPS

Factories Throughout Southern California Preparing for Another Record Season

All of the numerous beet sugar factories in Southern California are being overhauled, in anticipation of the coming season, which promises to be another record breaker.

Reports from the fields indicate a splendid crop of beets.

All of the beet dumps of the American Beet Sugar Company are to be remodeled immediately and equipped with dust screens and catchers. This is a big change and work will have to be rushed on it to complete the dumps in time for the campaign.

There are eight dumps to be remodeled—two on the Patterson ranch, and one each at the Arnold, Nauman, Round Mountain, Leesdale, Simi and Haynes. The Leesdale dump is the largest and it will take 50,000 feet of lumber to put in the dust catchers. The dumps had been repaired and put in order for the season when word was received from headquarters to put in the new device. This makes the dumps thoroughly modern in every particular.

By using the screen, or "grizzly," as it is popularly called, the dirt and dust that clings to the beets when pulled is sifted out and caught in a hopper. A wheelbarrow and scale are below with the dust hopper. The dust sifted from each load is weighed and returned to the wagon, the weight of dust being deducted from the weight of the load of beets.

The Register's Clearing House for Big Bargains

Cherries are Ripe IN YUCAIPA

During the next two weeks cherry picking will be lively in the Yucaipa Valley. Hundreds of people visit the log cherry orchards to see the novel sight and get a taste of the big luscious cherries, the like of which grow only in Yucaipa.

We will take our Yucaipa visitors to the 60 acre cherry orchard of Andrew Brothers, near the apple orchards on our tract.

This is a good time to see the valley. The apple orchards are looking fine and the big irrigating system, electric power plants, road improvements and planting operations, are all nearing completion.

During the cherry picking we will make several trips a week. Up in the morning, back in the evening.

Yucaipa is only 64 miles from Santa Ana. Go with us and see this valley of opportunity, destined to be the finest deciduous fruit growing district in Southern California. Phone 970W.

Judgment Entered Today, Defendant Failing to Appear to Make Showing

E. H. Verrill, orange buyer, failed to show up for the trial of the suit brought against him by R. W. Jones, orange grower of El Modena, but that did not prevent the trial of the case. Jones gave testimony showing that he delivered oranges to Verrill for which he had not been paid, and Judge West gave Jones judgment for $330. Williams & Ruten represented Jones. Verrill could not be found by his attorney, but the attorney appeared and tried the case without his client.

IN THE JUSTICE COURT

TWO WARRANTS IN DISTURBANCE CASE

Row on the Street at Huntington Beach Gets Into the Local Court

Justice Cox is to thresh out the why and wherefore of a rumpus that occurred at Huntington Beach last night. There has been considerable discussion at the beach town because City Marshal Vincent of that place brings many of his cases to the Santa Ana court instead of trying them in the justice's court at home. Whatever reasons he has for his selection in the present instance he started the proceedings here by swearing to two complaints.

One complaint charges Gail Bergery with battery. The complaint states that Bergery used force and violence upon Raleigh E. Vincent. Raleigh is a son of the city marshal. Specifically, the battery consisted of a right arm punch on Raleigh's nose.

The other is for the arrest of Delbert Wardlow. Wardlow is charged with disturbing the peace. He had a part in the same general affair in which it seems that Bergery and Raleigh Vincent were concerned.

JAPAN DOES NOT WANT WAR WITH U. S.
DECLARES EDITOR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 26.—"Any talk of war between America and Japan is the veriest nonsense," was the declaration today of Hamilton Wright Mable, associate editor of the Outlook, who has just returned from a tour of Japan.

"It is true there is a feeling of quiet resentment as a result of the California anti-alien land act," Mable admitted, "but the people are merely astonished and hurt, and nothing would be more brutal than for America to put Japan in a position where she would be compelled to fight. Japan does not want war."

POPE HOLDS TWO AUDIENCES

Pontiff Paic and Thin But Seemingly in Good Health—Cheered by 500 Pilgrims

ROME, May 26.—At the first collective audience given by Pope Pius since his recent illness the Pontiff received 500 pilgrims yesterday in the consistory hall, 200 in the morning and 300 in the afternoon. Both audiences were very brief. The Pope spoke a few words of welcome to the pilgrims.

Escorted by the noble guard and accompanied by his physician, Dr. Amici, the pontiff walked briskly into the hall and mounted the throne without aid. He was pale and thin, but apparently in good health. His voice was strong and clear. He seemed to be deeply moved by the enthusiasm shown by the pilgrims, who cheered and sang Te Deums when the Pontiff finished his speech. The Pontiff has decided to grant an open-air audience on May 29.

Outdoors for the first time since his illness, the Pope drove in the Vatican gardens. He appeared to be in excellent health.

TRIPLE ENTENTE TO BE STRONGER

King George and Poincare of France Will Seek Closer War Co-operation

PARIS, May 26.—Strengthening of the Triple Entente and other equally important international matters will be discussed between King George V of England and President Poincare of France when the latter visits the British monarch in London on June 23, according to statements made unofficially here today. Men prominent in government life are accredited with this explanation of the president's visit to King George. It has long been the opinion that the Triple Entente was not as strong an alliance as the Triple Alliance. The former includes Russia, England and France. The latter includes Germany, Austria, Italy. It was pointed out that when President Poincare was premier of France he was entrusted with the work of cementing the friendship between Russia and France, going to St. Petersburg on that mission. Because of his knowledge of the terms of the alliance it is said he was urged to go to England to discuss the matter before France sends diplomats to formally confer with English officials of state. The main issue is said to be to strengthen that clause in the alliance treaties relating to closer co-operation on both land and sea in the event one member of the alliance goes to war.

The two battleships will be assigned as convoys to the Brazilian ship while she remains in American waters.

Rear Admiral Badger's fleet will leave Narragansett Bay Tuesday afternoon, arriving in New York on the morning of May 29, to take part in the memorial exercises.

ELECTRIC LIGHTS

POMONA, May 26.—The Pomona city council has passed an ordinance re-establishing the old rate of eight cents for electricity, and $1.10 for gas, following the report by Pasadena's municipal electric superintendent to the effect that a lower rate would not permit the Edison company, of which the city is a rival concern, to realize six per cent on its investment here.
